Dear Mr. Friedman,

I have enclosed a copy of a letter that I have sent to Proctor & Gamble regarding their use of animals in research labs. I am also writing to you to urge the FDA to allow these companies to use in vitro for testing instead of the cruel and inhumane use of animals. In this day and age it is an outrage that this should still be done. Animals feel pain every bit as much as we do and they need to be protected not mistreated.

Very truly,

Dear Mr. Pepper,

I am writing to you to express my disgust at Proctor and Gambles use of animals in their labs. In this advanced day of technology it is COMPLETELY unnessessary to use animals in such horrific ways, in fact in any way. A company such as yours should be able to use some of your big profits to lead the way in further research that does not involve using animals. I am very disappointed in learning of your procedures in the lab. I intend to boycott your products completely and I will spread the word to every person that I know. It will mean that I will give up the use of products that I use often but I will not assist you in this ugly business.

Very truly
